

11TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME 12TH & 13TH JUNE 2021, YEAR B

We acknowledge the traditional owners and custodians of the land on which we stand. We walk on a land once occupied by the Gadigal People of the Eora Nation, who lived in this area for over 30,000 years. May we continue to love and respect the land as they have.

From Fr Peter's Desk....

On many an idle day have I grieved over lost time.

But it is never lost, my Lord.

You have taken every moment of my life in your own hands.

Hidden in the heart of things you are nourishing seeds into sprouts, buds into blossoms, and ripening flowers into fruitfulness.

I was tired and sleeping on my idle bed and imagining all work had ceased.

In the morning I woke up and found my garden full with wonders of flowers.

Rabindranath Tagore

We hope you all enjoyed coming together last weekend to celebrate St Columba's feast day! We were blessed with the weather, and was great to see so many smiling faces. Thank you to all that volunteered their time to make this event happen!

Saint Columba's Feast day-9th June

Saint Columba was born in 521, Donegal, Ireland and was baptised Colm, meaning 'dove'. Cille, 'of the church', was later added to his name, for he dedicated his life to the Christian faith. St Columba displayed a love of scripture and he travelled the world to spread the message of God and Jesus. As members of the St Columba's community, we too try to fulfil the evangelising mission of the Church by spreading the Good News to all.

World Refugee Week 2021

As we said in last weekend's bulletin, World Refugee Week this year extends from June 20 (World Refugee Day) to June 26.

World Refugee Week is Australia's main annual activity focussing on refugees, their situation, and also the positive contributions they have made to Australian Society.

So, at this time, we thought it appropriate to tell you about a few articles related to refugee situation that we have come across recently.

Firstly, congratulations to the Asylum Seeker Resource Centre on reaching its twentieth anniversary. It started on June 8, 2001 out of a shopfront in Footscray when Kon Karapanagiotidis and a group of TAFE students he was teaching started a community-funded food bank for people seeking asylum. From there it grew to the largest human rights organisation in Australia providing advocacy and support for people seeking asylum, via providing a health clinic, emergency accommodation, education and employment programs, and not least, legal representation, and support for people in detention.

As Kon says, when they started, the refugee issue wasn't the political weapon it is today. But by chance, a couple of months after they opened in 2001, "Tampa and Siev-X happened and the government .... announced that they would be the ones to decide 'who comes to Australia and the manner in which they come' and refused to let 354 refugees rescued at sea land in Australia. This was a moment this nation has never recovered from.

And for the last 20 years our government has been de-monising and dehumanising people seeking asylum. .... The events of 2001 and subsequent years have been some of our darkest moments as a nation."

Secondly, and on a similar theme, there's an article this week in The Guardian about the two little girls from Biloela, one of whom is now very sick, who have been interned on Christmas Island for the last three years. In that time they have become inadvertent "poster children for the ills of Australia's refugee system." The whole world knows now that Australia is a very unwelcoming place for people seeking safety, and that we keep children in indefinite detention. In the circumstances the government might find it expedient to release Kopika, Tharnicaa and their parents into the community. But securing their release will do nothing for the other 30,000 asylum seekers living in limbo on an endless merry-go-round of temporary visas.

As The Guardian says: "Long-term policy will only be possible when the public begins to challenge the false narrative that underpins Australia's attitude to refugees .... that a group of asylum seekers had thrown a child overboard from a sea vessel as a ploy to force the Australian Navy to rescue them." This is the "founding untruth upon which the refugee detention system is designed .... that people arriving here by boat are so craven, so singularly focused on duping immigration officials that they are prepared to do anything to get in ...".

Until Australians reject this doctrine, there won't be any change. Even this week on ABC radio, Linda Reynolds, Minister for Government Services, referred to people coming to Australia seeking asylum as "illegals". They're not "Illegals"; they never have been "illegals", at least not since Australia signed the United Nations Refugee Convention in 1951. Yet this term now seems to have become entrenched in our understanding of the asylum seeker situation.

If you agree that the way we treat asylum seekers is wrong, or that the Biloela family should be released, or that as many as possible of those on temporary visas should be given permanent protection, contact your local federal member (for most of us this is Anthony Albanese) or the Minister for Home Affairs, Karen Andrews, or the Immigration Minister, Alex Hawke. You don't have to say much – just that you want better treatment for people seeking asylum, or that you want the Biloela family released.

"Faith is passed on by contact, from one person to another, just as one candle is lighted from another."

Cemetery management will now be handed over to a costly, Government bureaucracy, with no sympathy for the mission of caring for the dead and no experience in care for graves. It is a shocking decision.

Sunday 13th June 2021
Eleventh Sunday in Ordinary Time

Celebrant: Sisters and brothers, after our Times of Lent and Easter, and our recent solemn Feasts, we return to Ordinary Time, during which the mystery of Jesus is unfolded for us through the Gospel according to Mark

1. We pray for the Church in Australia preparing for the Plenary Council and in our own Archdiocese as we prepare for our Diocesan Assembly, that through both we will become a kinder, more merciful, and just Church. Lord, hear us. Lord, hear our prayer

2. We pray, as the Church reflects this year on Pope Francis' encyclical on Love in the Family, that the vibrant desire of young people to marry and form a family will be an inspiration to us all. Lord, hear us. Lord, hear our prayer

3. We pray that faith, planted through baptism in infants and children like the tiniest of seeds, will be nurtured by parents and parish communities, so that it flourishes into a rich harvest of fidelity to God and good works among people. Lord, hear us. Lord, hear our prayer

4. Lord we pray for all who long for a home and seek asylum. We remember especially the Tamil family who were removed from Biloela (pronounced Bil-a-wheel-a) to Christmas Island, and who now face the illness of their little girl Tharni. May they receive healing and compassion. Lord, hear us. Lord, hear our prayer

5. We pray for the peoples of Eretria and Ethiopia facing a severe famine, the people of Burkino Faso experiencing new waves of terrorism, and those of the Holy Land with its fragile peace between the Palestinians and Israelis. Lord, hear us. Lord, hear our prayer

6. We pray that our departed relatives and parishioners, along with those who died in the Pakistan train accident, will make their home with the Lord. We also remember... Francis Cluney, Pauline Fernandes, Myra Fogarty, Phillip La Cava. Lord, hear us. Lord, hear our prayer

with grateful hearts
we proclaim your love in the morning and your truth in the watches of the night;
be our rock and strength at all times.
Through Christ our Lord.
